We serve the Cambodian Community

The Cambodian Association of South Australia Incorporation provides services to all Cambodian people in South Australia, regardless of their religion, places of worship or political involvement.

We are here to help. The Association is here to connect and strengthen our Cambodian community and looking forward to working with all Cambodian people in South Australia.

We have two Cambodian Community Welfare Workers to assist and support you in finding and accessing other services that deal with:

- Financial counselling and planning
- Family matters (e.g. domestic violence, family law etc)
- Mental health and community wellbeing
- New migrate to Australia
- Gambling, drug and alcohol issues
- Disability and peer support services
- Family and cultural support
- Advocacy to government department (e.g. HousingSA, Centrelink, Home Affairs etc)

We also help in filling in forms and provide a Khmer speaking Justice of the Peace service.

All the services are FREE, and all the conversation with our workers will be strictly confidential.
